

throw it in and go

The all new Element from Honda is entirely about huge functionality. It's designed to get you and your stuff there and back, and be your best camp in between. Load gear through either set of side cargo doors or the clamshell tailgate. Removable flip-up rear seats and reclining front seats give you 24 options for anything from packing it full to just lying around, gazing at stars through the removable skylight (AWD). The rugged interior has a wipe-down floor and seats. The outside has tough composite body panels. Element powers up with a 190-hp, 2.4-liter VTEC engine and a standard 5-speed stick or an available 4-speed automatic. If you're in an AWD, you can get Fuel Saver AWD. And whether you want the basic EX model or the EX-L, which packs a 270-watt audio system with 6 speakers, air conditioning, ABS, alloy wheels and more - you're good to go.
